

NATIVE Knowledge

A month long celebration of native plants held in cooperation with Garden State Gardens, a consortium of New Jersey's public gardens. (www.gardenstategardens.org).

at The Frelinghuysen Arboretum
53 East Hanover Avenue, Morris Township 07962

Lecture

Lesley Parness, Superintendent of Horticultural Education, presents

"Beauty in the Eye of the Beholder: European Plant Explorers in the New World."

The familiar trees that grace our forests were deemed "rare, extraordinary and magnificent" by European 18th and 19th century plant explorers. Learn about their travels here in the "new world" and how American trees changed European landscapes.
