Admit it - the surfeit of gardening catalogues arriving daily is overwhelming! How to select plants that work and reflect your personality? Horticulture professionals share their top picks in categories like "My BFF-Best Foliage Friend)", "Scents to Render One Senseless, and "My Kind of Red." More than a shortcut to great plants, this program offers insight into the reflective process that results in great gardens.

Designer Susan Cohan, APLD, specializes in the creation of beautifully crafted outdoor spaces for gracious living. She is a graduate of the English Gardening School at the Chelsea Physic Gardens in London and has earned certificates in horticulture and landscape design from Rutgers University. Susan's award winning work has been featured in traditional and digital media and she serves on the Board of The Association of Professional Landscape Designers.

Nurserywoman Heidi Hesselein is a fourth generation nurserywoman. She grew up at Princeton Nurseries where she was exposed young and thoroughly to the "Horticulture Bug." She married Richard Hesselein, also a fourth generation Nurseryman, and in 1998 they started their own business, Pleasant Run Nursery. Heidi is a New Jersey Certified Nursery and Landscape Professional, a member of IPPS, the Woody Plant Conference Committee and several State Nursery associations.

Garden Writer Valerie Sudol was staff garden writer for The Star-Ledger for more than a decade. She helped launch the paper's award-winning Home & Garden section, for which she wrote cover stories with extensive reader resource guides. Her weekly column, Garden Diary, covered gardening, nature, and land stewardship. Valerie now contributes freelance articles to the Ledger and its lifestyle magazine as well as to other publications and on-line sites, and is the publicist for the New Jersey Flower & Garden Show.
