

The Jewish Tree Festival
at The Frelinghuysen Arboretum
53 East Hanover Avenue • Morris Township, NJ 07962

Sunday, January 30th, 2011
1pm to 4pm

Just as the American Arbor Day is dedicated to trees, Tu B'Shevat is the Jewish "birthday celebration" of trees. In Israel, it is a national holiday that occurs when their trees are in bloom and bearing fruit and nuts. Here in New Jersey, join us for an indoor program for children ages 5-9 and their families.

- At 1pm, singer, songwriter and storyteller Uncle Eye presents an interactive environmental program of silly songs, rubber chickens and our favorite Tu B'Shevat hero, Captain Tree. See him at www.uncleeye.com.
- From 2 - 4pm, staff and volunteers from the Morris County Connection will offer activities appropriate for young children including crafts and the sampling of traditional holiday foods.
- From 2 - 4pm, arboretum staff will help children pot up a tree sapling and provide care instructions to their families.

This FREE program does not require registration unless you are bringing a group of 10+. For groups of 10+ please call 973-326-7603.

Presented in collaboration with the Morris County Connection, a partnership between JCC Metrowest, Jewish Family Service of Metrowest and United Jewish Communities of Metrowest
